1. EGISLATIVE BUSINESS—THE CANAL CONTRACTS—
ALBANY CITY AND THE SUSQUELANNA BAILROAD—STHAMSHIPS—NAVIGATION, ETC.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.]

Neither house of the Legislature has been engaged in the accomplishment of any important business during the last two days. Mr. Conger did not introduce his bill in the Senate to-day, as was expected. He takes the correct satisfactorily completed. It is substantially the same as the democratic members in both houses of the last Legis-isture attempted to engraft in the Canal bill, but was resisted by the whigs—and they will pursue the same course

now. If every democratic Senator should vote for Mr.
Conger's bill, it will still require one whig vote, and that cannot be obtained.

The time of the Assembly has been consumed to-day in the debate on canal frauds and lettings. Members are lashing themselves into fury upon the matter. The bill introduced by Mr. Curhing is destined to pass, which declares the contracts legal, and directs the Auditor to pay drafts. This is the way the affair will be settled, and supercede the necessity of troubling the Court of Appeals.
As the thing was conceived in injustry, so it will be continued to the end.

A general law will be passed to incorporate Ocean

nued to the end.

A general law will be passed to incorporate Ocean
Steamship Campanies, instead of granting special charters as they desire.

The project to induce the city of Albany to subscribe a million to the Susquehanna Railroad, is likely to fail. The credit of the city may be leaned for a period of time, upon rafe considerations, and upon a pledge of a sinking fund.

The river is again clear of ice, and navigation has resumed. Several tow-boats, with barges, heavily laden with produce, departed to-day. There is an incalculable amount of freight, which will now be put under motion. The eggregate shipment of the leading articles, are as follows:—Flour. 2003 bbls; beef. 1454 bbls.; pork, 250 bbls.; ashes, 327 bbls.; provisions, 1.129 bbls.; whiskey, 2.422 bbls.; wheat. 5.079 bushelst rye. 9.000 do.; oats, 21.000 do.; cheese, 3.720 boxes; cheese, 311 casks, hop., 92 beles.

The Legislature of New Jersey has not yet adjourned. Governor Fort vetoed a bill yesterday evening, and the onsequence was that the members of the House Ricked up a quarrel with him about it. They remained in ses-sion till three o'clock this morning, when they took a recess till eight, and then recommenced their fiery dis-cussion. They continued the wrangle till late this even-ing, when they adjourned, to renow their hostilities on Monday.

Com. Stockton and Judge Grier left in the Southern train, this evening, for Washington.

From Boston. THE SUFFOLK BANK ROBBERY-MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE-A SHIP CAPTAIN ARRESTED FOR

CRULLTY.

Mr. Brewer's defaications, as far as made known are $23.861.62. Rumors are, row-ver, current that the committee of investigation have discovered still larger deficiencies in the bank accounts—various entries having been found in the ledger without any corresponding charges in the bletter. The examination has been adjourned to Tuesday, and Brewer is held to bash in $25.900. In the House of Representatives to day, the debate was the most exciting one ever known. The Liquor bill was under discussion, and it came out that in caucus, the calitionists had pledged themselves to use an iron role, and kill every and all amendments proposed. Captain Perkins, of the ship Constantine, has been arrested by officer Rackielewiez, of New York, for alleged cruel treatment of his crew. The authorities have determined to try the case here

MISSISSIPPI PLANTERS' BANK BONDS—LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE.

BALTINOUS, March 25, 1852

The State Senate of Mississippi have laid on the table the resolutions submitting to a vote of the people the question of paying the Pianters' Bank Bonds.

The Legislature of Louisiana have adjourned sine die. Previous to adjournment, the Senate rejected the bill repealing the usury law of the State.

for maintenance and support as an aged, decreyid and worn out sailor; that he was and continued, an Innate of the institution and, as such, is entitled to support and maintenance therein for life; that, on his return to the institution, after a short, necessary absence, the defendant, who is an officer called the Governer, refused to allow him to enter, and drove him away, keeping him out, and depriving him of the support to which, as he says, he was justly and legally entitled, to his damage five thousand dollars. To this complaint the defendant demurs, institing that the facts stated assuming them all to be true, are not sufficient to constitute a cause of action. On the hearing, it was urged that the institution was a mere charity; that no person had any absolute legal right to its privileges, and that, for the redress of any supposed grievance, resort must be had, not to the courts, but to the irustees, who were invested by law with the visitorial authority. This argument when first presented, struck the mind of the court with much force. On reflection, however, it seems inapplicable to the present case. The plainitiff was not an original petitioner for admission. He had passed the orden of the trustees and been regularly received as an innate. As between himself and all persons other than the beard he had acquired certain rights which could not be invaded without cause. Had a strange, having no connection with the institution, obstructed him in the exercise of those rights, it is clear that an action might have been maintained, as in any other case of respass. But the defendant, it is said, was an officer, called the governor. The complaint so describes him. Can any and every limate, at his mere will and pleasure? Such a doctrine will hardly be advanced in this country. Our climate is not adapted to its cuiture. The whole spirit of our constitution and laws, both State and national, is inconsistent with the growth or existence of arbitrary power. Some authority, therefore, beyond that implied in the mere d

Mr. Fircis, (dem.) of Ia., moved a re-consideration of the vote by which the main question was ordered to be put.

Mr. Brooks, (whig) of N. Y., raised a point of order, that the motion could not be entertained, as there had been no intervening business.

The Speaker overruled the point.

Mr. Fowler, (whig) of Mass., moved to lay Mr. Pitch's motion to re-consider on the table; whereupon the question was taken and decided affirmatively, by yeas 92; nays 71.

The question was then taken on laying the bill on the table, and negatived by yeas 66, nays 97.

The amendments to the bill were severally concurred in, including the following:—"That no part of the appropriation made in the bill for the benefit of any tribe of Indians shall be paid to any attorney or agent of such tribe, or part of a tribe, but shall, in every case, be paid directly to the Indians themselves, to whom it shall be due—or to the tribe, or part of a tribe, per capita—or to heads of families, unless the imperious interests of the Indians shall require the payment to be made collectively; nor shall the executive branch of the government here after recognize any contract between any tribe or part of a tribe and any attorney or agent, for the prosecution of any claim against the government, under this act."

The bill was then passed by yeas, 95; nays, 76; as follows:—

THE MURDERERS OF YOUNG LEHMAN CONVICTED-BAGGAGE CAR BURNED, ETC.
PHILADELPHIA, March 27, 1852.

The jury in the case of Blais and Mathias Skupenski rendered their verdict this morning, in which they declare the prisoners guilty of murder in the first degree. Upon the rendering of the verdict, the elder brother, Matthias, was as pale as death, and kept his eyes fixed upon one object. He appeared deeply affected, though he did not show it by weeping. Blaise looked at the jurors with great eagerness. His eyes were very much inflamed with crying. He has been deeply impressed with the solemnity and danger of his position throughout the whole trial; but Matthias gave no evidence of contrition until yesterday, during the recess given by the Court, when, after eating his dinner, he wept bitterly. Matthias, on his way back to prison, informed one of the officers who accompanied him that the third man, who has been so anxiously sought after, is still in this city; that he is a tailor by trade, and that he has been in the habit of taking work out of some of the edity stores. Up to the moment of this disclosure, Matthias has refused to say anything in reference to this third man.

STILL UNKNOWN.

Another of those fearful occurrences which shock our citizens from time to time, occurred yesterday. Many rumors were rife during the afternoon, and in the immediate neighborheod it was difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain the extent of the calamity, or the precise cause and manner of the accident. The following particulars were ascertained by our reporter, after a careful investi-

It may be well to give some account of the locality, That part of Thirty-second street immediately on the east side of the Eighth avenue, is occupied on either side by blocks of what are termed "colony houses," or buildfamilies. On the side of the street where this awful occurrence took place, a frame building stands within a tenements, such as described. It was on the intervening space, or lots, the two houses were in the course of erection, which yesterday fell with such disastrous results. Mr. Barton, boes carpenter, was the owner and builder of the above mentioned eight houses; but it is said he

of the above mentioned eight houses; but it is said he has since sold them, and was now engaged, in connection with Mr. Thomas Brooks who had also built a portion of them, in erecting two uniform ones in continuation, on the vacant lot. The foundations have been in progress some time, but the superstructure was only started in the course of the week, and was run up with such rapidity that yesterday (Saturday) they had raised the third story and were laying the course for the roof. A partywall had been built against the frame house, but none against the brick one, the beams being let into it. Between the two new ones was an eight inch wall, and this it was which first gave way, or to use the working men's expression, "doubled."

About twenty minutes past one o'clock, shortly after the men had returned from dinner, James Farrell, one of these who has suffered fatally, had just ascended to the top with a had of bricks, when the wall gave way, and the whole, including beams, walls, and everything, fell towards the centre, leaving only a portion of the party wall over against the frame house standing and precipitating Farrel into the midst. It is said that the laborer following him turned and leaped down on to the sidewalk, sustaining little or no injury; but our reporter could not ascertain who he was.

Plateons of the Sixteenth and Twentieth wards police were quickly on the spot, and some members of hook and ladder companies lent efficient aid in removing the pile of ruins. Five men were quickly extricated, viz.:—John Brady, foremsn of the masons, who had sustained some serious internal injuries; James Farrell, theorer, wounded sbout the head; Peter Murray, mason, having his thigh fractured; and william Maddison, mason, very slightly injured; and a fiith, (name unknown.) supposed to be unhard.

Farrell was conveyed to the drug store of Mr. Sami, Croley, in the Eighth avenue, close by, where he was premptly attended by Drs. Harmon and Hardenbrook, of the Chief's department. He was totally unconscious, and never apo tector.

Erady and Murray were conveyed to the City Hospital. The former had suffered severe internal injuries, the nature of which was not ascertained. He was totally insensible, and died about an hour after his admission. He also leaves a wife and two children.

Murray was found to have received a compound fracture of the thigh; but no other material injury. The limb was set, and he appeared tolerably comfortable, with every prospect of petfect recovery.

The accounts of the missing (if any such there be) were totally irreconcileable, after the most diligent inquiry. Murray and Maddison both since that there were eight or alme massus, and Murray says nine, and Maddison four, laborers employed and at work at the time; and if so, their escape appears perfectly miraculous; but at the time of our reporter's leaving the scene, he was assured they had ponetrated to the bottom, and none could remain buried and unextricated. It is therefore to be hoped, either that many had not returned from dinner, or that if they had, they escaped, and in their terror immediately sought their homes, and that we have stated the extent of the calamity. In the case of the Hague street and Twenty-first street catastrophics this proved to be the case—many supposed to have been destroyed, coming forward some days afterwards.

To the last mentioned unhappy event, this appears to bear a striking similitude, and from what could be learned, and from a personal observation of the premises, the cause, or causes, seem to be much the same. The whole affair well, however, undergo, as it demands, a rigid enquiry, and the Coroner, who has been day notified, has appointed to morrow (Monday) for the purpose.

The following accurate and further particulars respecting this melancholy occurrence, have been furnished having been burnt in the head and face.

It appears that at about two o'clock on Friday afternoon, M. Maillefert and his assistants, William Smith, Capt. Southard, and two men, named Joseph Martin and John Whalen, embarked in two boats from Pot Covo. for the purpose of firing four charges of powder, containing 100 pounds each, on the "Fryingpan." Two of the charges were fired, and the third lowered down upon the rock; but, before the operation was finished, the box containing the canister became broken, and the sand with which it was ballasted ran out into the water-conto the surface, and it was, therefore, hauled alongside the wooden charge boat, with the view of conveying it ashore; the other charge was sunk upon the rock and the wires properly attached. It appears that, by some mistake on the part of the two men in the charge boat, they handed Mr. Maillefert the wires attached to the floating canister, instead of those attached to the canister iowered upon the rock; and he accordingly applied them to the galvanic battery which he had with him, and immediately an explosion took place which blew the wooden boat to atoms, and instantly killed the two men, and as seriously wounded Captain Southard that he died at two o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Maillefert and Mr. Smith, who were in one of Francie's metalic life boats, and which, as before stated, contained the battery, found themselves at the bottom of the river, and after struggling and being under water for some time, they succeeded in laying hold of part of the metalic life boat, which, containing an zir-chamber, supported them auntil they received assistance and were taken on shore. Strange to say, neither of them remember hearing the noise of the explosion, though it was heard for miles distant, and shock every house in the neighborhood and caused great slarm to the inhabitants of Harlem. York-ville, and Astoria. Boats were immediately pushed off from Long Island, and from the vessels in the Sound, and every assistance rendered.

The body of one of the two men in the wooden boat presented a frightful appearance, being literally blown to pleces: the body of the other has not yet been recovered. M. Maillefert and Mr. Smith, his brother in-law, escaped denth, both by the explosion and by drowning, in a miraculous manner, the latter receiving but a few slight borns on the face, the former had his cost rent to shreds, and had it not been for the metallic beat, both would inevitably have perished. It was subsequently picked up off Staten Island, in an almost perfect condition.

We learn that the indy of M. Maillefert and a f sequently the buoyancy of the canister caused it to rise to the surface, and it was, therefore, hauled alongside

The accident to Mons Maillefert is much regretted here, on account of preparations being made to employ him to blow up a ledge of rocks on "Marcy's Farm." a few miles

Theatrical and Musical.

Bower Trocarse.—This establishment was very wal attended again during the past week, and the performances were received with marked approbation. The pieces selected for to morrow evening are the popular drama, entitled "Raffaele." and the nautical drama of "Fiends in Human Form." Neatly all the members of BROADWAY THEATRE. - Mr. Forrest, the American tra Bacabown Harman, —ar Forest, the American tra-godian, continues to attract densely crowded houses. He is to appear as William Tell to-morrow evening, in the historical tragedy of that name. He will be assisted by Messrs, Barry, Conway, Madame Ponisi, and Miss kate Horn. The terminaling feature will be the very amusing farce entitled the "Rendezvous." Nonc's Garden —Donizeth's comic opera, called the "Child of the Regiment," is to be the particular feature at this favorite establishment to-morrow evening. Mme. Anna Thillen will appear as Marie. The farce of the "Captain of the Watch" will also be played, with Mr Hudson in the leading character.

Busion's Theater —Shakspeare's comedy, styled the "Twelith Night," is to be performed at Burton's tomorrow evening in which Burton Placide, Blake, Dyott, Lester, Johnston, Bland, Rea, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Weston, and Miss Dyott, will appear. The comedy of "Rather Excited" will conclude all. No doubt the house will be crowded.

"Rather Excited" will conclude all. No doubt the house will be crowded.

National Therapy.—This popular theatre continues to be well patrentied. The grand fairy spectacle of the "Magic Well," the beautiful drama entitled the "Siege of Tripoli," and the langhable farce of the "Bath Bun," will comprise the entertainments to be given to-morrow wight—a great bill of amusement, considering the small price of admission.

Rassin's Murkum.—The oriental spectacle of "Cherry and Fair Star." is as attractive as ever. It will be repeated again to-morrow evening. The amusing pieces entitled the "Soldier for Love." and the "Milliner's Holldey" will be performed in the afternoon.

Bowers Circus.—This being the last week of Sanda and Company, it is presumed the Circus will be crowded to overflowing every night. The selection of equestrian runusement for to-morrow evening, is of a very attractive character.

Circusty's Mussimelis.—This band continues to draw large assemblies. The negro meladies are rendered with great harmony, and the instrumental performances are given with great masteal skill.

Wood's Mussimelis.—This band is composed of many of the best negro delineators, and the amusements generally are received with enthusiasm. A fine bill for to-morrow evening.

the feel hegro defineators, and the amusements generally are received with enthusiasm. A fine buil for tomorrow evening.

Lola Mostes,—There was a crowded house last evening, and any one who was so luckless as to be destitute of a seat at 7 o'clock, was obliged to mount into the "gkyparlor." Very many ladies were present, and we noticed that their judicious approbation added energy to the applance of the gentlemen who had the privilege of accompanying them. After the end of the bailet, Lola was summoned before the curtain, received with a storm of applance and an offering of bouquets, which she gracefully accepted. Bowing her thanks she retired, but was recalled by the audience, who demanded a speech. She then said.—

Ladies and gentlemen—Receive my heartfelt thanks. I had heard of you, but I did not expect so warm a welcome. It is too much. I cannot speak to you as I ought, in achaeveleding your kind and generous—your mere than kind and generous reception and treatment. But believe me, I thank you from my heart.

The Countess of Landsfeld, accompanied by Frederick Emerson, of the Grammar School Board, and Robert B. Hudson, of the Merchanis' Exchange, visited three of the public schools yesterday. She first visited the Wells School for girls in McLean street, and after a short stay, proceeded to the English High School, in Bedford street. Here she was honored with an elecutionary clio on the part of the boys, and the exercises were conducted in French. She expressed herself greatly pleased, and addressed the scholars in a brief manner, in the French larguage. She then entered the Latin school, in the same building, where also, there was an exhibition in declamation, in hone of her presence. Her stay at this rehool was more protracted than at the others, and her achieves the scholars were captivated with the manners and learning which the Countess displayed. On Monday she will visit the public institutions at Scutth Boston, by invitation of the authorities—Beston Lower, March 27th.
